	ouraging.

There were lots of opportunities to practise clinical skills (taking blood, cannula, catheter), clerk patients, do screening tests (MMSE, depression scale), write notes, fill in forms and prescribe under supervision. I particularly enjoyed being exposed to different aspects of care for the elderly e.g. MAU, in-patient, outpatient, rehab centre, psychiatric liaison service. I was taught during the ward rounds and clinics and had opportunities to ask questions and examine patients with interesting signs. Foundation doctors and consultants were keen to teach and involved students.

Timetabled activities covered a wide range of things and took place as scheduled.

Very friendly team, that made a good effort to teach and get us involved

Very useful teaching Good clinics Good teaching ward rounds

Ward Round with Dr Uddin was constructive as he taught us during this time. We were able to do some practical work as well.

Well organised. Very friendly. Enthusiasm from the consultants and team.

Wide range of patients seen, different clinical settings were rotated (stroke ward then ECU)

6. In what way could the module be improved?

A lot of things were cancelled, but this cannot be helped.

Clearer idea of what we need to learn as lectures didn't really cover much specific information.

Give better lectures and get rid of out of date scenarios

Going into HCoE placement I felt like I had no idea what was expected of me. This was entirely due to the lack of lectures we received during intro week. I feel there needs to be a much through introduction into the module to let us know what we are supposed to be learning during our placement

It would be nice to have allocated tutorial time to go through the cases set out by the medical school. There were discrepancies across different hospitals in terms of the amount of teaching/tutorials students get. Some placements had around 2-3 hours of tutorial time whilst some did not get any.

leading in teaching and lectures which didnt take place for our cohort should be a must for future students. This is an opotunity to bring together the general medical and surguical themes from third year and should be better communicated to the students as well as the medical school.

No timetable was distributed, which made it harder for us get signed off for things such as clinics. It would be helpful if we had access to a clinic timetable so that we are able to attend.

Some lectures would be helpful. We had one 90 min intro by Dr Feather but the minicases were used as a substitute for lectures and a few of them did not happen, and those that did had limited use.

The consultant that saw you the most should sign you off. I was signed off by dr Arnold even though I hadn't spoken to her once during my placement

The learning objectives are extremely vague, the depth and breadth of knowledge required is not at all clear. There is also a lot of perscripted time, e.g. mini cases and log book. I personally felt this got in the way of having actual patient contact, e.g. there is little to no patient contact on a ward round or mdt.

The teaching provided by the university was terrible - 1 lecture lasting less than 2 hours on the philosophy of ageing - nothing to do with clinical problems, common diseases or even what we need to know about for the exam

The teaching sessions from the consultants was a good on some occasions but other times it seemed a bit rushed and last minute as it all seemed to be crammed into final week

There were not very many clinics, most took place out in the community. More information about when and where clinics are would be useful at the beginning of the placement better lectures on introduction week. May be with some improtant 'recap' points on genral medicine.

7. Is there anything else you would like to tell us about the module?

I felt that the learning objectives were not clearly stated for this module, and the lectures given did not help this.

Overall had a great experience at Southend. A good set of lectures during intro week would have made the module more enjoyable

Please provide proper lectures and guidelines on what is expected of us in terms of knowledge

Really great hooe teams in Colchester.
