Consider the following examples:

- (1) Sarah listed who attended the party
- (2) Sarah enumerated who attended the party

- (3) *Sarah listed if/whether John attended the party
- (4) *Sarah enumerated if/whether John attended the party

List and enumerate can take content questions as a complement, but not yes/no questions. Why is that? In your answer, make sure you consider the semantics that our proposal in class gives to both if/whether John attended the party and who attended the party.

Note on word count. Examples, definitions, tests, etc. do not count towards the word count. You should aim for 600-700 words of prose per puzzle.
