

Module Title: Kinship: Geographical Perspectives

Module Code: GEG6146

Credit Value: 15

Level: 6

Pre-requisite modules:

Content Description

This module offers a geographical approach to critically engage with ideas of kinship – of who is related to whom and how – and genealogical origins for understandings of human connection and difference (including ideas of global humanity, nation, ethnicity and race). It explores the cultures and science of genealogy, including family history, genetic genealogy and genetic accounts of the histories of national or ethnic groups, and addresses efforts to reconsider how kinship can be understood and practiced, including interspecies kinship.
